MRS. JOE GANS IS COMFORTABLE

Widow of Negro Pugilist Is Very Much Opposed to Any Proposed Benefit.

SAM LANGFORD FINDS NO WILLING STAKEHOLDER

Wants to Bet Twenty Thousand Dollars He Can Beat Johnson; No One Will Hold Wager.

BY W. B. (BAT) MASTERSON.

By Leased Wire to The Tribune SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 14.-Mrs. Joe Gans, wife of the former negro champion. who died at his home in Baltimore, Md. the other day, writes me to say that at the time of her husband's death his family was well provided for.

family was well provided for.

"Joe was not a millionaire," writes his wife, "but he saved enough of his earnings to leave his family beyond want."

Mrs. Gans is decidedly opposed to the benefit that some of her husband's friends in Baltimore have suggested getting up. Mrs. Gans says that shortly before Joe went to Arizona a local newspaper man asked him concerning a benefit and that Joe made it plain at that time that he would not for a moment entertain such a proposition.

"Our hotel here," said Mrs. Gans, "is on a profitable, paying basis and I in-tend to carry on the business as here-

Mrs. Gans concludes by assuring me that I will be doing the family of the famous lightweight champion a big favor by giving space to her letter.

Joe Woodman. Sam Langford's manager, who seems to be having all kinds of trouble in getting on a match for his man with Al Kaufman and Jack Johnson writes me that he has been ready for some time to post the $20,000 which Johnson demands as a side bet, but so far has been unable to find a stakeholder.

"Several reputable men whom I have approached, who would be satisfactory to both Johnson and myseif, nave refused to hold the money," writes Woodman.

Let me say that sooner than let this match fall through for want of a stakeholder. I myself will consent to act. Some knocker will now, no doubt, jump up and ssk who will hold me. Or course I have no idea that I will be selected as stakeholder, but nevertheless if Woodman and Johnson will notify me what day to be in Hoboken to receive the money. Ill try to be there. If Woodman and Johnson should permit me to take a chance with the stakes against some of the games that are running here I would be willing to let them take the winnings. This, of course, is only a suggestion and if it does not appeal to their sportling blood there is no harm done. But, leaving all jokes aside, it does seem funny that there should be such a shortage of stakeholders. I know fully a thousand men up here who would gladly pay for the privilege of holding $40,000 and it would not make a particle of difference to them whose money it was. Mrs. Gans concludes by assuring me of the aviation meetings this summer has the great meeting at Rheims last year, sissippi tournament over the every country in Europe and even in Egypt. Beginning with the winter meets along the Riveria these meetings have continued week after week in almost every larg city in France. In almost every large city in Even Rheims, with the prestige of last year and a long series of broken records this summer was a financial failure, the loss totaling $50,000. Those identified with aviation place the blame upon the spirit of commercialism with which aeroplaning is being exploited. Aeroplane flights made such a vivid appeal to the imagination that promoters hung upenormous purses and paid fabulous sums to secure the presence of the few French cracks whose exploits had astonished the world. Men like Paulhan, who fourteen months ago had earned $25 a month as a mechanician suddenly began demanding and getting from $15,600 to $25,000. Every pilot, whether experienced or not, wanted to excel his rival in sensational exploits in order to get more money and that was the cause of several of the fatal accidents that have marred the meetings. The impression in France is that next year there will not be one meeting where there were thirty this year. Those interested in the real development of aviation, however, believe this will be an advantage rather than a drawback. It will, they think, tend to check the recklessness of professionals and compel manufacturers to devote themselves to the perfection of their machines.

CAMP PERRY RIFLE

CAMP PERRY RIFLE MATCHES BEGIN TODAY

Regimental teams got in from the Twenty-fourth New York and the Second Connecticut and several members of the Pennsylvania state team came. For the association's matches the entries are the heaviest they have ever been. Nearly 409 will open fire in the morning in the Wimbledon match.

Giants Win. Giants Win.

The Salt Lake Giants Sunday afternoon defeated Cox's Comets by a score of 20 to 1. Features of the game were the pitching of Anderson for the Giants and the star plays pulled off at first by Midgley of the Giants. The Salt Lake Giants are still eager to meet any amateur team in the state and are particularly eager to play the Kaysville team. Anderson and Candland composed the battery for the Giants in Sunday's game while Hudson and Hall performed a like service for the Comets.

2 to 1. The game was a pitchers battle from the first inning until the heart-breaking finish, with "Maggie" Murphy pitching one of the strongest and headlest games of his career.

Until the sixth inning neither team had scored. Mann came up with a neat single and was advanced to second on an error of Lawrence and to third on a sacrifice, finally scoring the first run. Ogden's first and only run was made in the eighth, when Bock made a single and was forced out at second by Wessler. "Dad" Gimlin made a two-bagger, scoring Wessler.

The score which won the game for Murray in the tenth inning was made by Mann. On a wild throw of Lumley over first base Mann went to third. Means struck out and Lumley allowed the ball to pass, while Mann trotted in.

Occidental Pitcher Strikes Out Thirteen Salt Lakers and Allows Two Hits.

LOCAL TEAM SHUT OUT BY FAST NEGRO PLAYERS

Base-Running and Fast Fielding Figure in Victory for Colored Stars.

By superb base running and fast fielding, the Occidentals Sunday afternoon shut out the Salt Lake team by a score of 5 to 9. Langford pitched a game striking out thirteen Salt Lakers and allowing only two hits. The Salt Lakers worked hard in an uphill effort to score. On two occasions men got as far as first but there was no one who could hit in a pinch. Little pitched a steady game and held the hard-hitting negroes down to six hits. His support, however, was ragged, else the score however, was ragged, else the score would have been smaller.

The Occidentals started their run-getting in the first inning. Black went out Nevins to Donovan. Then Nevins dropped Hawkins's fly. Hawkins got to third on Langley's single and scored on a passed ball. Langley was brought home by Langford's two-bagger. Burns struck out and Lane flew out to McEachren. In the second inning Owens, Salt Lake's new right fielder, smothered two long files that looked like hits. Mooney got to first when Donovan missed a threw from Good. The long negro stole second and reached third when Good fumbled Black's grounder. Good redeemed himself, however, by nipping Mooney at the plate, retiring the side without a score.

The negroes got another run in the third inning. Stewart dropped Hawkins's fly after a hard try and the negro-reached second. Langley sacrificed him to third and Hawkins reached home while Langley was being put out at first Langford flew out to Good. Burns got a two-bagger but Lane retired the side with a grounder to Little.

In the fourth inning Robinson opened for the Occidentals with a three-bagger. He scored on McAdoo's single. McAdoo stole second and was sacrificed to third by Mooney. Black ran into his own bunt and was out and Hawkins flew out to Stewart. to Stewart.

In the fifth, sixth and seventh innings

In the fifth, sixth and seventh innings the negroes were quickly retired. In the eighth Langford got his second two bagger. Burns flew out to Stewart and Lane got to first on Good's error. Then Langford and Lane worked a neat double steal. A little later they tried another double steal. Langford was put out by Sweeney at the plate. McEachren missed the throw to third to get Lane and the latter scored. Robinson walked and got to second on a passed ball. McAdoo struck out. 'The Occidentals went out quickly in the ninth. Salt Lake went out one, two three in the first, but appeared to have a chance in the second. Donovan, the first man up, walked, but the next three went out in short order. In the third Little lost a chance to score by going to sleep at first. With one man out Little got to first on Robinson's error. A moment later Langford caught him napping off at first. "Dad" Stewart, the next man up, siammed out a two-bagger which would have scored Little had he remained awake. Nevins, who followed Stewart, went out on a grounder to Langford.

Salt Lake's Chances.

Salt Lake's Chances.

In the next three innings Salt Lake didn't get a man to first. In the seventh the chances for Salt Lake to score looked bright. With nobedy out, Good got to first on Hawkins's error. Two passed balls placed him on third Langford tightened up, however, and struck out the next three men. Two strikeouts and a fly to center in the eighth was the best Salt Lake could do.

Another glimmer of hope came to the fans in the ninth. Langford gave Dad Stewart a pass. Nevins struck out and Good singled. Stewart was forced out at third when Donovan hit to Hawkins. On a passed ball Good got to third and Donovan to second. Tennant ended the game by ingloriously striking out.
